BOSTON WON
THE BATTLEFIRST GAME OF THE SERIES
WAS SWIFT AND HARDLY CONTESTED

(Associated Press)

Boston, Oct. 7.—Clear skies, light breezes and a moderate temperature formed perfect weather conditions for the first of the world series games. The night line was smaller than that preceding any game here in years, but many arrived at daybreak. When the barriers were swung clear at 9 o'clock enthusiastic fans scrambled for the best places.

Two thousand extra seats had been erected and the additional standing space provided for one thousand people brings the capacity of the park up to 45,000. Many carried heavy boxes containing lunch and to be used as seats.

KNOTT RETAINS THE NOMINATIONSUPREME COURT REFUSES TO GRANT NEW WRITS FOR EITHER SIDE

(Associated Press)

Tallahassee, Fla., Oct. 7.—Attorney Flournoy, for Catts, yesterday petitioned the supreme court for a mandamus writ, to compel the state canvassing board to recount and count only his 69 votes from the precinct of Alachua, in Alachua county, and at the same time Attorney Adams, for Knott, asked the court for a writ to compel the canvassing board of all amended returns since the last canvass. Both writs were denied, which leaves Knott the nominee on what is generally regarded as the last day of the contest for the nomination.

The state committee meets today and the law requires that the secretary of state, not later than thirty days prior to the election, send out instructions for the printing of the ballots. Knott is the nominee now by 21 votes, the same as before, but the canvassing of all new amended returns would have made his lead thirty-five over and above the sixty-nine that Catts claims. The court denied Adams' writ on the ground that it was not necessary to canvass to increase the lead of Mr. Knott as the result as to the nominee would not be changed by a canvass.

The court wrote an opinion in denying Flournoy's writ which follows: "In the supreme court of Florida, ex rel Sidney J. Catts, relator, vs. H. Clay Crawford, Thomas F. West and J. C. Luning, secretary of state, attorneys general and state treasurer, respectively, constituting the state canvassing board for the democratic primary of June 6th, 1916, respondents."

"The prayer of the petition is that the state canvassing board be compelled to add the sixty-nine votes from precinct No. 3, in Alachua county, to the canvass made on Sept. 21st, and from this to declare as a result that the relator is the nominee of the democratic party for the office of governor."

"The canvass referred to was made under the order of this court, based upon the amended and corrected returns then before said board. The writ here prayed confines that board to the returns before it on said date and takes from its consideration any amended or corrected returns since filed. In other words, it seeks to have the state canvassing board declare not the true result of the primary election, as shown by the returns before it, but the result arrived at by a tabulation based upon inaccurate returns, that may have been superseded by recounts, the accuracy of which is not questioned by the relator."

"By confining the state canvassing board to an antecedent date, the pleader has industriously excluded from its consideration any account of subsequent corrections of the various county returns, however meritorious and impeccable. The alternative writ was denied."

Long Branch, Oct. 7.—President Wilson reached his summer home from his western trip this morning and began working on the speech he will deliver to the progressives and independents this afternoon. He read many telegrams congratulating him on his first Middle Western trip.

The president considered it possible that he will again refer to the settlement of the railroad strike. He takes the position that neither he nor Congress were coerced into a settlement, because neither side asked for legislation.

Reports Come from Other Fronts

(Associated Press)

London, Oct. 7.—The Entente campaign against Monastir in Southern Serbia is developing rapidly from both the south and east. While the allied forces have pressed to within six miles of the city from the south, the Serbians have advanced north-west from Kaimakalan on the western slopes of the Nidje ridge. Paris reports they have reached the valley of the Velaboda, which empties into the river Cerna almost directly east of Monastir. Farther west along Lake Presba the Entente is making progress against the Bulgarians. Paris reports that French troops are participating in that movement.

SOFIA REPORTS SUCCESS

Sofia reports the repulse of assaults on the Bulgarians and their allies along the line south of the Constanza-Tchernavoda railway.

QUIET ALONG THE SOMME

It is comparatively quiet along the Somme, Paris reports. The only activity of the last day or two was a slight advance of the French near Bouchavesnes.

RUMANIANS ARE RESTLESS

A Rome wireless report says a fresh Rumanian expedition has crossed the Danube into Bulgaria. Gen. Von Mackensen is said to have attacked it without success.

COMMANDER OF MOEWE KILLED

London, Oct. 7.—Count Von Dohna-Schlodien, who commander the German raider Moeve, was killed in France according to a news dispatch from Milan. It was reported a few days ago that the Germans were using sailors from Belgium on the Somme front.

RUMANIANS REPULSED

Turning on the advancing Rumanians, the Austro-German troops, in Transylvania, defeated the invaders decisively along a fifty mile front. According to Berlin, the Rumanians are retreating north of Fogaras and at the juncture of the Hamered and Alt rivers, near Reps. Bucharest admits the Rumanians have withdrawn before superior forces in the region of Fogaras. The Austro-Germans in this section were led by General Von Falkenhayn.

In the Dobrudja heavy fighting continues with Bucharest recording advances for the Rumanians and Russians on the center and left of the line.

DRIVE DIRECTED BY
THE GRAND DUKEDrive to be Made by Russians Into Bulgaria Through the Dobrudja

(Associated Press)

London, Oct. 7.—Most alarming of all the news recently published in Germany is the report, received through Stockholm, that Grand Duke Nicholas had left Trebizond for Odessa to proceed to Kiev and thence to go to the Dobrudja to take command of the armies driving through Bulgaria toward Constantinople.

Reports from many quarters affirm that these armies have been organized on a very powerful scale and the German reading public is being prepared for coming events by the announcement that in this campaign for the conquest of Roumania and the rolling up of the Russian left, Field Marshals von Hindenburg and von Mackensen—to whom, it is recalled, is due the fact that the Prussian army is still camping in Russia, that Serbia is in the hands of the central allies, that Bulgaria is carrying out unimpeded military operations on a large scale, and that Turkey has lost none of her confidence—will probably have to maneuver extensively on account of the peculiar terrain of the Dobrudja.

The vast quadrilateral of the Dobrudja lying between the elbow of the Danube, the Black Sea and the Roumanian-Bulgarian frontier on the south, is an immense sandy plain with marshes on the edge of the river and of the seashore. There is no water apart from salt wells and the country is largely desert, except for pastures, which grow up after the spring storms, and support the herds of sheep and buffalo on which the sparse population makes its living. This population is of mixed blood, comprising Turks, Roumanians, Greeks, Bulgarians and Jews, about 200,000 in all.

The only completed railroad in the territory is that running westward from the port of Constantza toward the capital, Bucharest. As the Roumanians can pass the Danube within their own territory, the Dobrudja offers greater facility for operations from Roumania against Bulgaria than for operations in the opposite direction, especially if the Bulgarians fulfilled their agreement, made in the treaty of Bucharest of three years ago, to dismantle and raze the fortifications of Rustchuk, Shumla and Balchik. So true is this observation, that the ancient Romans in the days of Trajan had decided to close this great invasion highway by means of walls, to protect the Roman empire against the barbarians.

The position and fortunes of the army of Prussians, Bulgarians and Turks under Field Marshal von Mackensen, ostensibly dealing an offensive blow for the destruction of Roumania, and in reality endeavoring to stay the invasion of the army of Russians, Roumanians and Serbians, are therefore of intense concern to all observers in the Teutonic countries, and it is realized that on them may hang the early decision of the war. One point of great importance is being freely admitted, namely, that all hope of taking the Russian-Roumanian forces in the Dobrudja by surprise is now gone and that operations henceforward must be conducted practically in the open. This fact is not encouraging to the Prussians, as their resources in men and material are believed to be greatly inferior to those opposing them.

MOVING PICTURE FEATURES

Instead of Marie Doro in "The Lash," as announced, Blanch Sweet and Theodore Roberts will be seen here this afternoon and tonight in "The Storm," another Lasky feature. Miss Sweet appears as a half wild, fun-loving daughter of a retired professor, who is so submerged in his studies that he permits his daughter to run at will in the Maine summer resort where they live.

Billie Burke will be seen in Ocala for the first time Monday, when she appears as the star in the Triangle Kay Bee feature, "Peggy." The picture was produced under the personal direction of Thomas H. Ince, who produced "Civilization," now running in New York. The incidental music is by Victor Schertzinger. The story has to do with Peggy Cameron, a lively member of New York's exclusive set, and her escapades in Woodkirk, in the Scottish highlands. Fairies play an important part in the story.
